I would want a flashlight because I would want to see in the dark. I would also use it to check for animals and for protection from wild life. I would also want a bow and arrow because I would be able to use it for hunting. I would shoot an animal dead with it and I could use it for food. I would finally want a stick. I want a stick because I would be able to hold my food that I hunted for. I would also build a fire and I would put the animal in the stick and roast it for 5 seconds and then eat it. It would be useful so I would not eat something raw and cold. It would make it warmer and easier to eat.
